

Spring Series 2009

THE IRISH STUDIES PROGRAM
EMORY UNIVERSITY

M I C H A E L P A R K E R

“Atlantic Crossings: Heaney and America”

When: Tuesday, April 14th, 2009, 3pm

Where: Room C201, Callaway Building

Sponsored by:

The Irish Studies Program; the Manuscript, Archives, and Rare Book Library; and the Department of English.

Michael Parker is Professor and Research Manager for Literature and Cultures at the University of Lancashire’s School of Journalism, Media, and Communication. He has published extensively on Northern Irish Literature, including work on Seamus Heaney, short stories of the Troubles, and Northern Irish Fiction. His next major research projects include Seamus Heaney: Legacies, a study of Heaney’s poetry, prose and drama for Palgrave Macmillan, which is due out in 2011; a co-edited collection on the work of the fiction-writer William Trevor; and a critical study of British Literature since 1979.

For more information please contact Geraldine Higgins at ghiggin@emory.edu or 404-727-2232.